

BBC Daily Show

If anyone is really struggling with the online aspects of the activities we are sending home then this might be helpful.

Each weekday day a short 20 minute programme is shown on the BBC covering aspects of the National Curriculum in a fun way that only requires use of the television.

The shows are each day at the following times:

9am KS1

9.20am LKS2

9.40am UKS2

They are shown on the red button – just press the red button on your remote control. Alternatively the BBC Red Button currently provides one video stream to all platforms, which can be accessed directly from Freeview channel 601, Freesat channel 981, Sky channel 980 and Virgin Media channel 991.

If you can access the BBC iplayer then you can also see the previous 5 weeks worth of programmes as well.

The topics may not be the same as the work we are sending home but all this learning is valuable and hopefully you will find it useful.
